

The diagram illustrates the dimensions for a business card. It features a central white area representing the trim size, surrounded by a light blue shaded area representing the bleed size. The trim size is 90mm wide and 50mm high. The bleed size is 96mm wide and 56mm high. The bleed area is defined by a dotted blue border. The trim size is defined by a solid yellow border. The text 'BUSINESS CARD' is centered in the white area. Below it, the trim size and bleed size are specified in yellow and blue rounded rectangles, respectively. A note explains that the bleed size is used when images or fills extend beyond the trim size. The diagram is framed by a light gray border with registration marks (crosshairs) at the corners and crop marks (solid lines) on the sides.
